The Web Design category award will be given to students who have produced a Web site that meets the following criteria:

- The Web site must be created, written, and designed entirely by students.
- The Web site must be developed either as part of a class (curricular) or as part of an extracurricular activity supervised by a teacher.
- If the Web site is a web version of an established publication (school newspaper, yearbook, etc.), it must demonstrate principles of creative and professional web design and be more than just an online copy of the original publication (e.g., cannot simply be a PDF version of a newspaper or other publication).
- The Web site must have a minimum of three separate web pages (for example, a main page plus at least two links to other pages also designed by the students).
- The Web site must have appeared online or have been substantially updated after August 2007.

Please type or print legibly

School name: _______________________________________________________________________

Web site name (i.e., the title of the first main page): ________________________________

Web site URL: http://_____________________________________________________________________

Is the paper:  curricular  extracurricular  teen section  other ___________

Number of student staff: _______________

Number of professional staff/advisers: ___________

Final editorial decisions are made by:  students adviser  administrator

Annual operating budget ___________

How is your Web site funded? __________________________________________________________

How often is your Web site updated? _______________

List professional journalism-related credentials of adviser(s):
________________________________________________________________________________________

Students responsible for developing the web site:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Chief Responsibility</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>_____________________</td>
<td>_____________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>_____________________</td>
<td>_____________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>_____________________</td>
<td>_____________________</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

What service provider hosts your web site? __________________________ Does the service provider require that your site carry pop-up ads, banners, etc.? ______

What computer program(s) do you use for the design of the web pages themselves? __________________

What other programs do you use in the development of your site? ________________________________

If you have any special production problems, please list them here. ____________________________________________

It is possible for no winners to be chosen in a category. In addition, the Press Day board requests a narrative outlining any unique problems faced, including prior review.

Entries must be postmarked by March 28 to be considered for awards.